School explores Reg rooms, 9-period day, Is

Three new programs put into action this past year were the reg rooms, the nine period day, and Independent Study (IS). In order for students to get better acquainted with the teachers, reg rooms were set up for the first 16 minutes of each day. The morning announcements were read and different subjects were discussed. With the reg room teachers as advisers, students also planned their schedules.

Another experimental program was the nine period day. Each period was forty minutes long. As a result by blocking two periods, classes such as physical education, science, home ec., and shop were able to meet for 80 minutes a day, two days a week.

The extra period also allowed time for the Independent Study program. According to Vice Principal James Sorensen, Independent Study was, "A privilege granted to those students who exhibit responsibility to the point that they can function constructively without supervision. During assigned study time these students are not required to report for attendance check but may move freely to resource centers, the IMC, or labs to pursue Independent Study."

The teachers, students and administration have studied the concepts of Independent Study for the past two years. A well-planned proposal was experimented with in early 1968 and revised during the summer. At the start of school, Independent Study cards were issued to students with the approval of their teachers.

With the completion of the metal shop building, another elective was added to the curriculum. However, this was the last year for Harvey Kent to teach shop classes. He decided to retire after 28 years of teaching. Eighteen of the years were spent here at Pleasant Hill. Mr. Kent joined the PH faculty in 1951, teaching world geography and woodworking. Later, he took in carpentry and craft courses. As more courses became available, Mr. Kent also taught drafting and woods. This year he instructed a course in plastics.

As Pleasant Hill High School continues to grow and improve so does the Hepta. This year 4 more pages full of this year's memories have been added. The Hepta staff hopes that the memories of this year will always be with you in the future.

The Hepta Staff

Administration encourages responsibility

Among the changes in the school's routine, the administration divided the school day into nine rather than eight periods. The additional period was given to the students for further study time. Students applied for Independent Study cards which gave students more freedom and allowed them to make use of their own study time. The IS program was designed to teach students how to assume more responsibility and to give them skills, which once acquired, would carry forth into later life. An advantage for students on Independent Study was a greater variety in each day's schedule, as many of the school's facilities were open for their convenience.

Science

The science department expanded in all areas of its curriculum. The program included three new Chemistry I classes, and two Chemistry II classes, plus a vocational chemistry class to meet the needs of the student wanting a basic concept of chemistry. Chemistry I students learned the make-up of chemical reactions, and why they happened. The students in Chemistry II examined the elements comprising the periodical table, and learned the importance of pro-tons and electrons. The biology student learned the differences in plants, reproduction cycles, heredity, and photosynthesis. Earth science taught the composition of the earth, the air, care of the soil, and plant growth. A student in introduction to physical science was taught concepts used in all phases of science, including the recording of data, experimentation, and using the metric system.

Mathematics

To meet the varying needs and abilities of PH students, the math department offered nine courses. Although the math curriculum was designed primarily to prepare students for vocational uses, the advanced math classes prepared the academically oriented student. For example, during their study of stocks, bonds, and figuring taxes, the business math students visited Walton and Company, stock brokers. For the second year, advanced math students entered the National High School Math Examination. The three highest scores were combined and submitted as the school's team score. The PH team consisted of Darrell Bagent, Sondra Bain, and Dick Johnson.

English

The English department presented what it hoped was its last year of the "traditional" approach to English. In this grade level approach, freshman English stressed grammar and world literature. Sophomore English dealt with literature according to types, such as short stories, poetry, and drama. Juniors studied American literature, and seniors studied English literature. During the year the English teachers began developing a new program for next year. Individual students helped in the planning by evaluating new textbooks.

Annual staff members are, sitting: Karen Simonsen, Janey Kopplin. Standing: Jean Gorseth, Jan Borchert, Linda Wagnon, Linda Dworshak, Dick Condos, Dave Jordan, and adviser Miss Carolyn Hoyer.

Journalism

Through the efforts of the Student Council, the journalism class acquired a multi-lith machine for printing the school newspaper, the Billie Bulletin. For the sake of convenience, the press was placed in the journalism room. This new addition inspired the creation of Spectrum, a magazine featuring students' literature and art. Most of the new publication's contributions came from the English classes. The convenience of the machine also contributed to the newspaper staff's producing of 16 papers, a new high for a year. This was accomplished in spite of the fact that the entire staff did not meet at the same time. The annual staff also faced the difficulty of meeting during separate hours. Although the staff was increased to eight members, they still suffered the traditional problems of photography schedules, cropping, copy writing, and meeting deadlines.

Foreign Language

Mrs. Shelby Hosford
English 12, Spanish I, II, III, IV

In response to the continued demand for foreign language courses, the Spanish curriculum was expanded to offer Spanish IV, and a German course was offered after school. Students in the latter class, taught by Mrs. Faught, received their credit from Lane Community College.

In contrast to Spanish I, II, and III, which emphasized the development of vocabulary, writing and speaking skills, and grammar. Spanish IV emphasized the reading and translating of Spanish literature. Students also benefited from the visit of the Mexican exchange students, Pedro Santiago, Jorge Rueda, and Gustavo Valencia.

The Spanish II class students repeat taped exercises that appear in their books.

Social Science

John H. Mannila
World Geography, Forestry

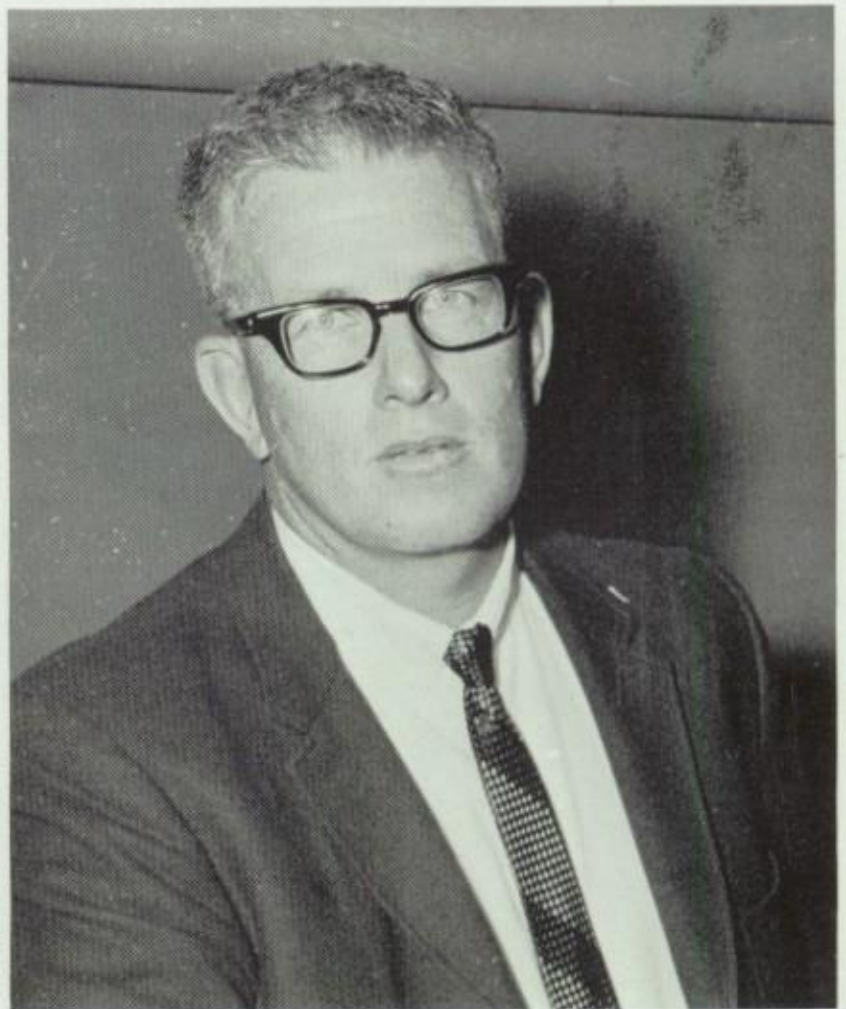

Three social science courses are required to complete the school's graduation requirements. These classes, world geography, U.S. history, and modern problems, offered the knowledge needed for effective and responsible living in a democracy.

World geography offered freshmen an understanding of the earth's climatic divisions, and the resulting regional and cultural similarities and differences. In U.S. history juniors examine the cultural, economic and political factors contributing to the development of America and her government. Modern problems attempts to instill in seniors an understanding of their rights and responsibilities as citizens of a democracy.

In Typing II, Connie Siroston concentrates on her drills.

The department added classes in business machines, retail selling, data processing, and general business. In business machines, a semester class, students learned to use the adding machines, rotary calculator, and dictaphone. Filing, mimeographing, invoices, and chain discounts were among other class activities.

Data processing was designed to teach the vocabulary and language of automation. This class prepared students for initial data processing jobs, such as key punch operator, verifier, tab operator, and computer librarian. The retail selling class studies the process of transporting products from the manufacturer to the consumer, and the buying, selling, and placing of merchandise. Another new class general business, acquainted students with business practices used in every day life.

Home Economics

The classes offered in the home economics department ranged from foods, clothing, senior home economics, Home Ec. I, to Home Ec. II. During the first part of the spring, the foods classes held teas for all the teachers. Later, they also prepared buffets, and each foods class student invited a student of his choice to come. The Home Economics II girls did a special project within the classroom. They worked with an interior decorator, choosing draperies for the classroom and paint for the bathroom. As another of their projects, they constructed their own scale modeled kitchens and furnished them completely.

Miss Betty Brown and Miss Sandra Grant are two student teachers who worked in the home economics department.

Arts, Industrial Arts

With the addition of the new metal shop, the industrial arts area was greatly increased in its capability to teach vocational studies. Approximately $16,000 of new equipment was available for students' use in the areas of gas welding, brazing, arc welding, casting, and hydraulics. An additional $2,400 of equipment is planned for next year.

In the many art classes, talent can be developed in areas such as lettering, water and oil painting, pottery, and enameling. In addition, students can take crafts where they learned techniques in plastics, clay leather, and metal. Art appreciation offers an historical survey of art from pre-historic to modern times.

The band performed in Newport completing an exchange concert begun last year at Pleasant Hill. It also performed for the Christmas, spring, and winter concerts, and the District Music Education Conference. Paul Gaupp, Christine McKinney, and Brent Whitley were chosen for the honor band, a district band made up of selected band students from the district's schools. The John Philip Sousa Band Award, given annually to the outstanding band student, was awarded to Brent Whitley.

The chorus was divided into two groups, a training choir and a concert choir. The training choir generally had no singing experience in an organized group. The other group, the concert choir, had singing experience in an organized group. The concert choir sang for the winter, spring, and Christmas concerts, and Baccalaureate and the graduation exercises.

Mr. Steinberger, the choir director, organized the Ascensions, a group of students interested in singing. The students met each day before school. The Ascensions sang at various doings held at Jasper and Trent, and they also placed second in the Variety Show.

Band members are, first row: Christine McKinney, Janice Henderson, Kerry Cantrell, John Barton, Linda Easton, Leona Henderson, Jean Graham. This year a new program using volunteer aides was developed to help the library. Each woman came once a week to perform the smaller jobs that needed to be done. Primarily, they readied books for the shelves.

Physical Education

Block scheduling changed the physical education classes this year. The longer periods gave instructors more time to help individual students with fundamentals. The block system also allowed teachers to use the "go-hard, go-light" method of exercising. In this method, students exercised hard one day, and lightly or not at all the next.

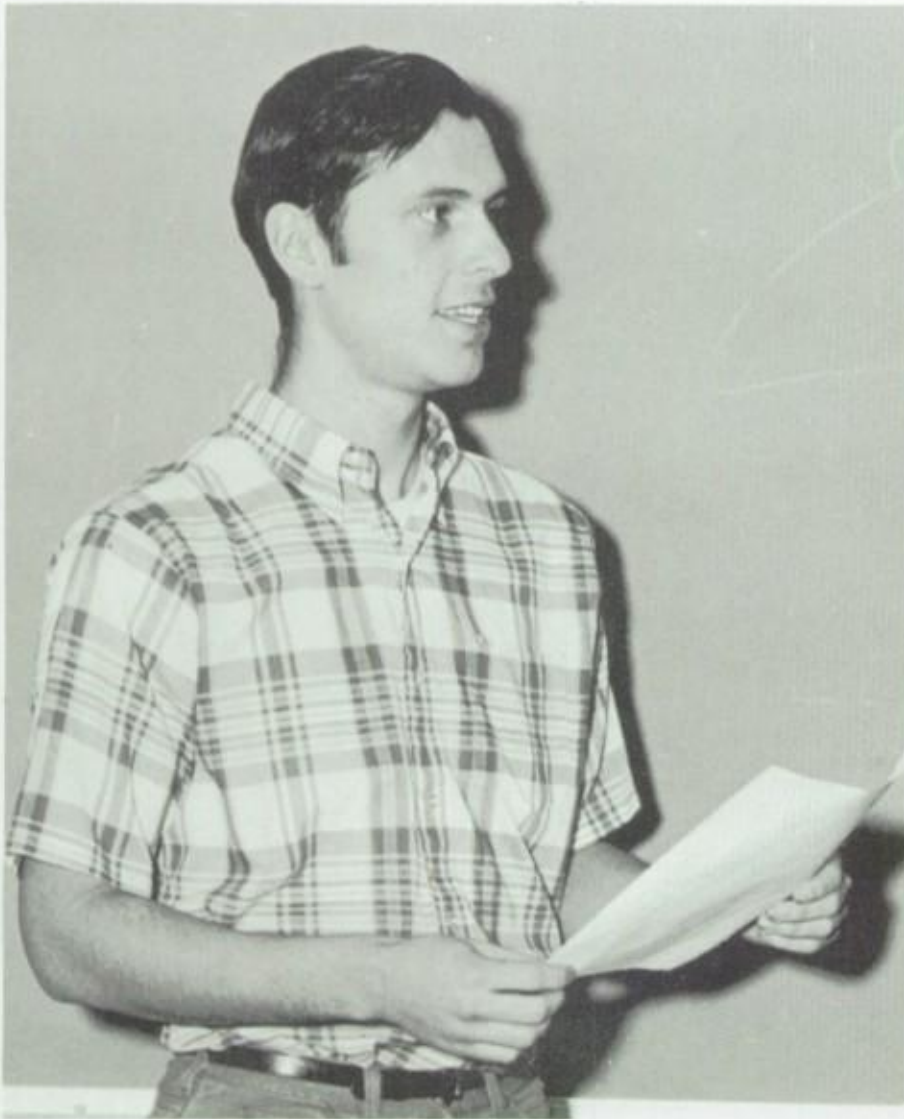

The girls' classes emphasized individual sports more than team sports. In addition to golf, the girls participated in badminton, tumbling, track and field, Aahper tests, archery, and posture and relaxation. Team sports included field hockey, volleyball, basketball, and fold and square dancing.

The boys' classes emphasized team sports this past year. These included wrestling, volleyball, basketball, and soccer. The boys also participated in gymnastics, track, and the Aahper tests.

communication with student body

During the past year the organization representing the student body tried to solve the problem of lack of communication between itself and the student body. The 21 member Student Council tried to circulate news of its meetings by having members discuss the minutes with each reg room.

One of the council's major projects was the purchase of a printing press. The machine was used primarily by the journalism class in the publishing of the school's newspaper and literary magazine. In order to pay for the machine, the council sponsored a candy sale which netted $380. Prizes were awarded to the students who sold the most candy and Billie Cup points were given to the sophomore class for selling the most.

The laying of the bricks for the student project, which was started last year, was finally completed at the beginning of January. Later, the council purchased several rhododendrons and other green shrubs to fill the planters. Another money-making project, which wasn't too successful, was the Winter Sports Festival dance held in late March.

Russell Tendrick, one of the high school's custodians, passed away on Friday, May 15, at the age of 66. Russ planned to retire at the end of this school year after 28 years of service to the district. Russ drove a school bus for 21 years before becoming a custodian. He will long be remembered as the man with the smile on his face who was always willing to do someone a favor.

Senior Class slacks off as leaders

The leaders of the school, winners of the Outstanding Class award as sophomores and Billie Cup winners in their junior year, slacked off their senior year, accomplishing very little. The seniors' one money-raising project, a dance, failed to earn anything.

In completing their final year of high school, 83 seniors took part in baccalaureate and graduation ceremonies on Sunday, June 8. Dwayne Love, salutatorian, welcomed the people of the community to commencement at 9 p.m. in the school gymnasium. In his salutatory address Dwayne spoke on the opportunity of achievement. Valedictorian Robin Herman addressed her class on the individual in society. Following the commencement exercises, members of the senior class met at Springfield Lanes for the annual all-night party.

This year's class motto was the "Higher You Climb the Broader the View." The colors were lemon and lime, and the flower was the yellow rose.

The junior class spent the first part of their year working on money-making projects. One of their first projects was showing noon movies, which had been made by and starred members of the class. They also sponsored a showing of "The Raven." Two other endeavors were dances. "The Hea-vy," an encounter with the psychedelic world, featured colored lights and hard rock music. At the other extreme was the annual Sadie Hawkins dance. The dance featured not only the traditional "Marrying Sam" but also a "Divorcing Dan."

Through their efforts with the money-making projects the junior class was able to put on a beautiful Prom. The event, with an elaborate decor carrying out its Hawaiian theme was held at the Village Green.

The annual Junior-Senior Barbecue, held at the North Shore Park in Lowell, ended the successful year.

Sophomores hold Welcome Dance, movies

Enjoying their second year in high school, the sophomores found activities played a large part in their school life. They attended dances, basketball and football games and many other events. The race for the Billie Cup also added spirit and enthusiasm to the class. They collected points by winning yell contests, sign competition, selling candy, and coming in second in the National Education Week contest. Faced with sponsoring the Prom and Senior-Junior Barbecue, the class worked to earn money for these projects. They sponsored the annual Welcome Dance for freshmen and made $76. A movie, "Hands of Manos," netted them $36.20.

Freshmen earn money, Billie Cup points

The freshmen were welcomed to the high school by the sophomore class which sponsored a dance in their honor. This helped acquaint the frosh with the other classes.

The class earned over $90 in their first money-making projects selling magazines. The classes second money-making project was a dance after the Oakridge-Pleasant Hill basketball game. Peter Anthony Mann, a disc jockey from KASH radio, played records for the dance in the General Purpose building. The event brought in $30 for the class.

In order to earn more Billie Cup points the freshmen cleaned up the track area and the school grounds.

SPORTS

Holding the A-2 State Cross Country Championship trophy are Phil Erickson, the team captain; and Dale Hammitt, the "Most Valuable" runner.

Injuries, inexperience hamper gridgers

Coach Larry Reeser

The main factors for the Billies poor 0-9 win-loss record, were the team's many injuries and inexperience to the new head football coach, Larry Reeser. Injuries hampered the team throughout the season by sidelining such starters as Larry James, Pat Dodson, Dan Lane, and Floyd Bates gave his play-making duties over to sophomore Jim Webb. Five members of the team received individual honors and four of these five received district honors. Team awards were given to Co-captain Larry James, the "Most Valuable Player," and Co-captain Dave Jordan, the "Most Inspirational." Other awards were given to Jim Webb, most improved; Dan Burke, best blocking; and Mark Ewing, best tackler. Receiving district honorable mention honors were seniors Larry James, offensive tackle; Dave Jordan, linebacker; and Mark Ewing, for both offensive and defensive tackle. Sophomore Dan Burke received the award for offensive guard.

This season, because of the lack of participants, the Billies teamed up with Marist to form one swimming team. The schools had a swim-off to see which swimmers would make the team. Racing mostly A-1 schools, the team compiled a 2-6 record. The wins were garnered in a dual-meet with Springfield and a tri-meet with Springfield and Thurston.

Two swimmers, Mike and Scott McKee, qualified for the state meet. Mike took firsts in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle at district, while Scott earned his berth capturing fourth in the 400-yard freestyle. At state, Mike placed second and third in the 100 and 50 yard freestyle respectively. For the second consecutive year, Mike McKee earned the team's outstanding swimmer award. He also was named the outstanding boy swimmer in the Clemems Invitational meet. Other swimmers to win awards were Don Sampson, the most improved swimmer, and Cheri Kosterl, the outstanding freshman swimmer.

Harriers win state championship

The 1968 Billie runners carried on the tradition of cross country awards as they brought home another district first place and the schools fourth State Championship. Pleasant Hill scored 41 points to win the district meet, followed by the Elmira Falcons next with 57, and old rival Central Linn in third place with 60. The experienced Billie runners paced themselves to a season 7-3 win-loss record.

Guts and determination sparked the Billie harriers to a first place finish in the state cross country meet at Willamette University in Salem. The Billies, who scored 126 points, were followed by Chemawa with 138. At the state meet, Dale Hammitt took third place followed by Phil Erickson in 16th, Steve Adams 28th, Gary Jacobson 35th, Lonnie McVey 44th, Jim Dodson 47th, and Brad Paulman 91st.

Running strong and relaxed, Steve Adams helps his team to another victory.

With great determination, senior Phil Erickson forces himself to keep going, enroute to a 16th place finish in the state meet.

Cagers lose out in title race

"We weren't hungry enough," was Coach Phil Roth's comment on why the Billies never made the trip to Coos Bay, to participate in the State A-2 tournament.

The roundballers, having good height and speed, ended the 1968-69 season with a 12-win, 11-loss record because they had, according to almost everyone, the toughest A-2 schedule in the state. Three of these losses came by the hands of third place 5-A-1 Junction City, two to 1969 State Champion Creswell, two to 1968 State Champion Sutherlin, one to first-rated Rogue River, and two to eighth-ranked Newport.

After league play opened, the Billies were annihilated by the Creswell Bulldogs 83-53. The cagers then went through the first half of league play with only one loss.

During the second half of league play, the Billies lost their opener to the Oakridge Warriors 48-43, then were put out of the tournament picture by Creswell 66-46.

Senior Bob Flowerday was named to the Emerald League Coaches First Team, with junior Floyd Bates receiving second team honors. At the annual Winter Sports Banquet, Bob Flowerday received the Most Valuable Player Award, and Phil Erickson, the Mr. Defense Award. Junior Grady Martin was the most improved player, and sophomore Russell Cameron was the most inspirational player of the season.

Mr. Roth, after three years as Pleasant Hill's head basketball coach, resigned to go into private business. While at P.H., Coach Roth established a 55-22 win-loss record, including two league championships and a second place finish in the state tournament.

Matmen send five to A-2 tourney

The wrestlers completed their season with one of the best records compiled by a PH wrestling squad. The Billies began pre-season action with a third at the Sutherland tourney, another third at the PH tourney, and a victory over Lowell. Early winners were Larry James, Larry Love and Dwayne Love. The Billies opened league competition against a strong Creswell team. Although PH came out on the short end, the team scared the Bulldogs 29-26. The Billies took the next two matches, one each from Oakridge and Marist. Then, they faced powerful Central Linn, the favorite to win the league championship. The Billies lost the match. The team went into the district tourney with a 3-2 record and third place in the league standings. Here, the team made its best showing of the year as nine men entered the finals and consolation rounds of the district meet. Of the six men making the finals, five of these took first places and one took second. First place winners were Eddie Holland (98 lb.), Dwayne Love (106 lb.), Rick Krohnke (148 lb.), Dan Burke (191 lb.), and Larry James (HWT). The second place finisher was Lelan Weller, who lost to teammate Dwayne in an over-time match.

Larry lost his next match and was eliminated when the person who defeated him lost his next match. Although Rick also lost his second match, he was able to continue as his man won and advanced into the finals. Rick's fifth place finish at state was the highest ever achieved by a PH wrestler.

The Awards Banquet, at the end of the season, had many wrestlers winning awards. Larry James was the "Most Valuable Wrestler" and he also received the "most pins" award. Other winners were Brice Hammond for the most take downs, Eddie Holland, the most improved wrestler, and Larry Love the most inspirational.

Cindermen place fifth in state

The 1969 Billie track season was a successful one with a fifth place finish at the state meet and a second place finish at the district meet. In addition, four school records were broken and one was tied. At the state track meet, won by Emerald League rival Central Linn, the Billies tallied 24 points. Sophomore Dale Hammitt grabbed a first place in the mile with a time of 4:25.6 and a fifth place in the two mile. Bob Flowerday came up with a surprise toss of 154 ft. 4½-in, to capture fourth in the discus. This toss broke the existing school record of 153-ft. set in 1962 by Don Moran. The mile relay team, consisting of Phil Erickson, Gregg Cagle, Grady Martin and Todd Heinz, placed third with a clocking of 3:30.9. This time broke the school record of 3:31.8. The Billies 440 foursome team of Erickson, Cagle, Martin and Phil Wolter placed fifth with a time of 45.1 bettering the old school mark by five tenths of a second. The fourth record was set by senior Gregg Cagle in the 180-yd. low hurdles. His time of 20.6 eclipsed the old record of 21.2. Alan Landers tied the school record in the high jump with a leap of 5-ft. 10-in.

Errors plague young baseball team

In baseball, the defending league champion Billies were hampered by the loss of its seniors. Of the three returning lettermen only two were seniors. As a result of its inexperience, the team was plagued by errors throughout most of the season. These mistakes played a major part in the team's 4-17 win-loss record.

Two sophomores, Kip Holbrook and Steve Smith, were the starting pitchers, accumulating 1-5 records respectively. Relief help came from junior Dan Johnson 1-4. In the batting department, sophomore Russ Cameron led the way with a home run, three doubles and nine one-baggers.

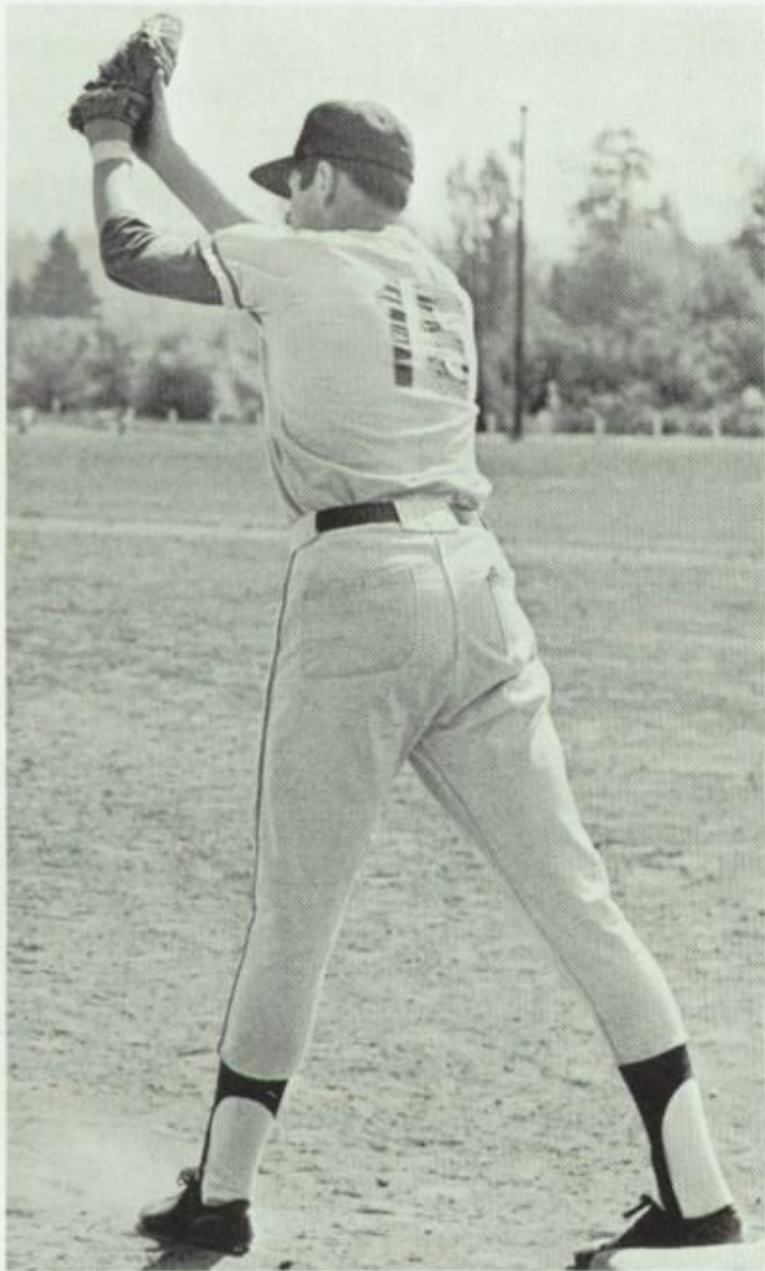

The team captains were seniors Dick Condos and Dave Jordan. Dick received an Honorable Mention to the All League team as an outfielder, and Dave received the team's "Most Valuable Player" award. Coach Ray Comstock stated at the awards assembly that, because of the team's youth, he was very optimistic about its chances next year.

sets school marks

The girls track team, under a new coach, Miss Peggy Warner, enjoyed one of the largest turnouts in many years. Through hard work and outstanding performances, they accumulated a 3-2 record and a third place finish in the district meet. At district they made a fine showing, with many girls making finals. Outstanding performances were turned in by Jeannie Easton, first in the discus, Leann Jackson, second in the 80-yd. hurdles, and the 440-yd. relay team, second in that event. Many other girls did well in the meet, including Debbie Edson, high jump; Debbie Hills, 880 and mile runs; Whelley Hammond, javelin; and Joy Henderson, the sprints.

At the state meet, the girls broke two school records. Although she didn't place in the finals Jeannie Easton set a new school record for the girls discus with a toss of 106-ft. 9-in. The 440 relay team not only captured sixth place in the state meet, but they also set a school record with their time of 53.8

At the awards assembly, Miss Warner congratulated the girls on a fine season. The team awards went to Joy Henderson, the "Most Valuable" track member and Shelley Hammond, the "Most Improved" track member.

ORGANIZATIONS

Preparing for another of the many Spanish Club fund-raising events are Adviser Mrs. Shelby Hosford, Jan Morss, and Rena Marcus.

Rally squads, Drill Team

School spirit really paid off as the Varsity Rally proved this year. The girls were awarded a plaque for being the best rally squad at the Illinois Valley Christmas basketball tournament.

The cheerleaders tried to devote equal time to the various sports throughout the school year. For the first time, Pep Assemblies were held for the baseball and track teams. These girls also served doughnuts and hot chocolate breakfasts to each team at the end of its season. In addition, to earn money to pay for uniforms, the rallies sponsored slumber parties, dances, cake raffles, and pop bottle drives.

A Rally Reg Room was also started this year for all rally members, Pep Club officers and the Drill Team leader. During this time these students planned pep assemblies and found ways to create more school spirit. The reg room also raised money by sponsoring pop bottle drives and selling McNess punch base and glasses. With the profits they planned to send next year's Varsity Rally to a rally school so that the girls could learn new ideas for creating school spirit, motions for yells, and ways to run pep assemblies.

DRILL TEAM

Drill Team, a newly-formed organization, performed during half-time of home basketball games. Thirteen girls, led by Kathy Golightly, and advised by Miss Peggy Warner, developed into a well-organized group. The girls worked on co-ordinated dances to popular music such as "King of the Road," "Raunchy," and "Whipped Cream." To be part of the drill team, the girls had to be either a junior or senior and a member of the pep club. The group selected a blue uniform that consisted of culottes and a long sleeved top with gold accents, and a PH drill team emblem.

SENIORS

The seniors ended a great year by receiving the Club of the Year Award at the annual Y-Banquet. During the year the members raised money for UNICEF at Halloween, and marched for dimes. At Thanksgiving they provided a dinner for a needy family in the community. The Les Cheries also attended Local Legislature sessions in Corvallis, then went to the YMCA Youth Legislature in April. Attending church, going to breakfast, and entertaining guests were also part of the club's activities.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomore club sold Christmas trees, wreaths, and mistletoe as its service project this year. Members also participated in Local Legislature and observed the state YMCA Youth Legislature. With the senior club, they co-sponsored a meeting with Sister Guadalupe, a nun, who talked about the changes that have taken place in the Roman Catholic church. As its final event, the club had a slumber party with the sophomore Tri-Hi-Y club of South Eugene.

Spanish Club

The 57-member Spanish Club was again involved in raising funds to support its foreign exchange program. In three years the club has presented $125 scholarships to 17 students, allowing them to spend six weeks in Mexico living in private homes and attending high school. Three students from Mexico City arrived on February 3, 1969, and stayed four weeks in homes of Pleasant Hill students. During their stay, the boys attended classes, school dances, basketball games, and toured Oregon with the families they stayed with.

Selling hot dogs every week at the Junior High School, stationery, sponsoring a fall dance, and a chili feed, hosting a dinner for all Lane County Board members, and selling Velegrams on Valentines Day were just a few of the Spanish Club's projects to earn money to send Pleasant Hill students to Mexico City. The five students chosen to participate were Lunn Murphey, Susan Campbell, Vicki Goodwin, Janet Morss, and Barbara Beals.

Drama Club

"A Night at O. Henry's" was the Drama Club's first production. The night's presentation consisted of two Christmas plays, "Gift of the Magi," and "The Cop and the Anthem." Although the performances pleased Mr. Comstock, the director and club adviser, he estimated a loss of $60. The club's second presentation, "Many Moons," by James Thurber, was a children's theater production. Arlene Mackler portrayed a young princess who wanted the moon. Her father, played by Eddie Byerly, wanted to give it to her, so he put his mathematician (Bruce Berg) and wizard (Doug Ewing) on the problem. However, it was solved by the court jester (Debbie Soleim). The play, directed by Mrs. Gann, was given twice and attracted a large crowd both nights.

Girls League

The Girls League sponsored the Big and Little Sister picnic as its first event. At this annual event, the big sisters acquainted the little sisters with the high school. In October, the club put on the Bon Marche Style Show, with PH girls modeling the clothes. The club also had an all-girl assembly featuring Miss Oregon, Miss Marjean Langley.

To earn money, the Girls League sponsored its annual dance, "The Mistletoe Stomp," and the Variety Show. Part of the profits were donated to the Ascensions for jackets and to the Student Recognition Program for scholarships. With the remainder, members took flowers to the Twilight Acres Rest Home. The club ended the year by putting on the Mothers Tea, at which time the new officers were inducted.

Lettermen's Club

The Lettermen's Club had a very active year, with their activities ranging from selling popcorn at the football and basketball games to helping with the State B track meet.

The club's main projects were selling activity calendars and holding an auction. They also sponsored the famous Harlem Stars basketball team. The Stars played the faculty in a game, which saw the Stars win 84-64. With the money from the activities, the club purchased a new popcorn machine and a flag pole for the athletic field.

Lettermen's Club officers are, from left: Phil Erickson, treasurer; Dan Lane, sergeant-at-arms; Dwayne Love, secretary; and Larry James, president.

GAA

The activities of the GAA included the selling of spirit ribbons during the basketball season to promote more interest in all athletics. The girls also sponsored a car wash before the Prom, and earned nine dollars. The club revised its point system, which determined the points girls could earn for participating in activities. Depending on the number of points earned a girl received a certificate, a PH letter, or an honorary pin. To end the year, the girls celebrated the end of school by going to Pietro's for a pizza party.

Canteen

The busiest place in the school during fifth and sixth period lunches was the canteen area. Despite the twenty to thirty voices at each window yelling to be served first, the six girls working each period tried to serve hungry students and teachers as fast as possible. A popular addition to this year's offerings were chocolate, strawberry, and butterscotch sundaes.

FTA officers are Linda Wagnon, secretary-treasurer; Marcy Ritter, president; and Lonnie McVey, vice-president.

FTA

The main objective of the Future Teachers of America was to build a strong organization of students interested in the teaching profession. During the past year, several members served as teacher assistants in various levels and subject areas in the elementary, junior high, and high school. The club continued building its drawer in the library, which includes pamphlets, films and books on different levels of teaching for members to use. In addition, for the first time, several of the 15 members attended the FTA State Convention held at Sheldon High School.

National Honor Society

Marching for dimes, visiting the March of Dimes Research Center at Portland, sponsoring a dance, and attending district conferences were just a few of the many events the National Honor Society participated in this part year. With the money earned in its fundraising projects, the society was able to award its customary college scholarship, this year to Deane Putschler.

Twenty-two members represented the Pleasant Hill Chapter. In a spring ceremony, four additional students, Debra Parr, Randy McMillan, Fred Kimball, and Janet Morss, were tapped for induction.

A bottle of Emeraude Frosted Velvet was presented to Kathy and her court. On Saturday night, the court was presented at the Homecoming dance, "Autumn Winds." The dance took place in the General Purpose building which was decorated with life size paper trees. "The Naked Raisin" entertained the guests.

During a spirit week, which preceded Homecoming, students dressed up on a blue-gold day, a tie day and a hat day. The classes also competed in a sign making contest. Friday morning the Pep Club and Rally gave a doughnut breakfast for the cross country and football teams. That night a black-top rally replaced the traditional bonfire activities. Students gathered outside the team room door to do yells and listen to the Pep Band. In spite of PH's spirit, however, the team was defeated 38-0.
